

Two interesting quotes from Code for the Maintainer.

"Always code as if the person who ends up maintaining your code is a violent psychopath who knows where you live."

"Alternatively, always code and comment in such a way that if someone a few notches junior picks up the code, they will take pleasure in reading and learning from it."